Tsunami Glass

Blown heart

Blown glass becomes translucent, colored, a rainbow of desire. This is the amazing job of designer Eva Miliukovic together with her husband Kriston Gene. A very eclectic and creative couple that was able to change the blown glass technique. Both highly appreciated artists of the sector and acclaimed by specialized magazines, they have a sound creative and artisan preparation. Their studio, ironically plays with blown glass and is called Tsunami glasswork. This heart is available in three different heights, designed to have more colors such as passion purple, the love of red, lunatic blue and pure white. The vase represents the human spirit and if you can't visit their showroom at least have a look at their site!
